

3. Other useful attributes may include:

Water adjustment valves,

Food and beverage specific containers

Food and beverage specific steam nozzles

A timing mechanism

Height adjustment mechanism for container to steam nozzle fit.

4. Some method of providing power to the product is required and must be centrally located to activate steam and processing features.